Report

Department of English organized Value-added course on “Basic Structure and Fundamental English” for I B.Com -I Semester students. In this course 85 students enrolled. It is conducted from 1-8-2018 to 24-9-2018 for 40 hours of which 30 are theory hours and 10 are practical hours. The resource persons for this course are N. Adi Lakshmi, V.Swarna Kumari and K.Venkata Lakshmi. The duration of the class is one hour i.e 4.40pm to 5.40pm after the regular class work. We provided study material to the enrolled students. We started this course to teach students basic grammar rules and regulations, so that they can easily understand their regular courses and improve their English learning and writing skills. The main aim is to enable students to learn English and to use it in their academic and personal career.

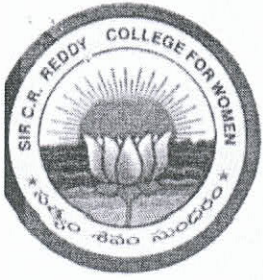

In the middle of the course we conducted two Internal examinations and towards the end of the course a Grand Test was conducted. Many students have scored good marks and proved that they have learned well. Certificates were issued to those students who were regular and scored 40% of marks in the 3 exams we conducted.

This course helps them to use the English language effectively. It develops their insight into the structure of English grammar. It creates an awareness of correct usage of English grammar in writing and speaking.

Now they are able to generate simple sentences using correct grammatical structures. They can understand and communicate in English. They can write short paragraphs without any grammatical mistakes. They understood the values and importance of grammatical concepts.
