REPORT ON AWARENESS PROGRAM ANTI-RAGGING

Date: 13-11-2026
Venue: Sir C.R. Reddy College for Women, Eluru
Programme: Anti-Ragging Awareness Programme

Introduction

Anti-Ragging Cell of Sir C R Reddy College for Women organized an Anti-Ragging Awareness Programme for all first year students on 13th November 2026. To create awareness among students about the harmful effects of ragging, anti-ragging laws, legal consequences, and the importance of maintaining a safe and friendly campus environment.

The programme was organized with the objective of educating students about their rights and responsibilities and creating awareness about the serious consequences of ragging. The programme was attended by two distinguished police officers as Chief Guests, who shared their valuable knowledge and practical insights regarding the prevention of ragging.

Chief Guests

The programme was graced by the following distinguished guests:

1. Sri V. Koteswara Rao, Circle Inspector (C.I.), III Town Police Station, Eluru.
2. Sri M. Subba Rao, Circle Inspector (C.I.), Women Police Station, Eluru.

Programme Proceedings

The programme began with a warm welcome to the Chief Guests, faculty members, and students.
The hosting of the programme was carried out by B. Tejaswini, Department of Mathematics, who welcomed the gathering and coordinated the programme proceedings smoothly.
The introduction of the Chief Guests was presented by Y. Swathi, Department of Commerce. She introduced both the police officers and highlighted their professional roles and contributions to maintaining law and order and ensuring public safety.

Address by the Chief Guests

The Chief Guests addressed the students and delivered an informative and thought-provoking session on anti-ragging awareness.

Sri M. Subba Rao, C.I., Women Police Station, Eluru, also addressed the gathering and created awareness about the importance of preventing ragging, particularly in women's educational institutions. He explained how students should recognize ragging incidents and respond appropriately when they witness or experience such situations.

He highlighted the importance of women's safety, personal dignity, mutual respect, and responsible behaviour. He also explained the relevant anti-ragging rules, legal provisions, and emergency contact numbers that students can use to seek assistance or report incidents.

Sri V. Koteswara Rao, C.I., III Town Police Station, Eluru, explained the meaning and concept of ragging and discussed the different forms of ragging that may occur in educational institutions. He emphasized that ragging is not a harmless form of entertainment or a way of introducing juniors to seniors, but a serious offence that can negatively affect students' physical and mental well-being.

He explained the various anti-ragging laws and rules applicable to educational institutions and highlighted the legal consequences and disciplinary actions that may be taken against students involved in ragging. He advised students to maintain discipline, respect one another, and strictly avoid any activity that may cause humiliation, fear, or mental stress to fellow students.

Both the Chief Guests provided valuable information about the available complaint mechanisms and helpline numbers. They encouraged students not to remain silent when they face or witness ragging and advised them to immediately approach college authorities, anti-ragging committees, or the police for necessary support.

The programme concluded with a strong message: "Say No to Ragging – Promote Friendship, Respect and Safety."

At the conclusion of the programme, P. Aruna, First-Year BBA Student, delivered the vote of thanks. She expressed her sincere gratitude to the Chief Guests, Sri V. Koteswara Rao and Sri M. Subba Rao, for taking their valuable time to visit the college and sharing their knowledge and guidance on anti-ragging awareness.

Objectives of the Program:

The major objectives are:

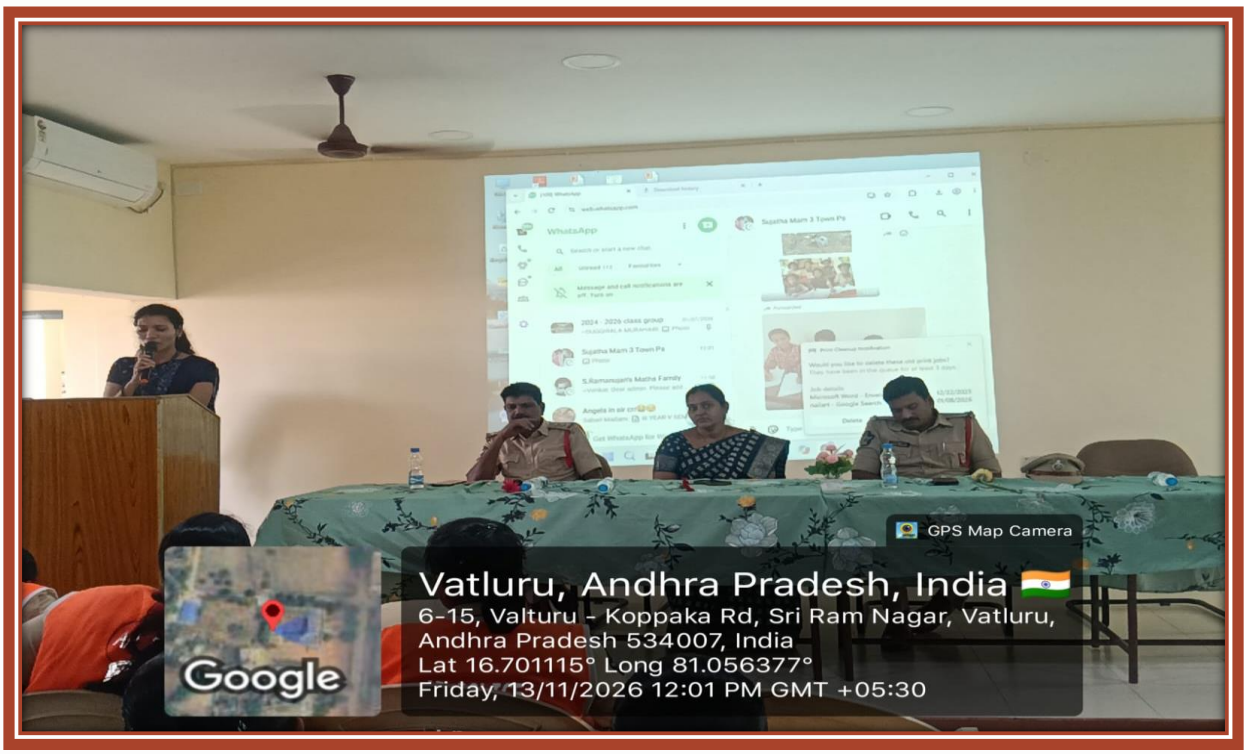

1. Educate students about ragging, its forms, consequences, and harmful effects on individuals and society.
2. Create a ragging-free and student-friendly environment within the college.
3. Make students aware of anti-ragging laws, UGC regulations, and disciplinary actions against those involved in ragging.
4. Inform students about their rights, dignity, safety, and freedom from harassment.
5. Promote mutual respect, discipline, empathy, and healthy relationships among senior and junior students.
6. Encourage students to identify, report, and prevent ragging incidents.

Outcomes of the Programme

The major outcomes were:
